DIARY NOTES

Acting Executive Director-Comptroller

1 November 1971

Mr. Thuermer asked me whether we could admit a British and Canadian subject as members of the TIME editorial group visiting the Agency, November 9th. I said that I did not think we should change our rule against foreigners coming here on this occasion.

X1 [] said he had had a query from the LOS ANGELES TIMES about the International Voluntary Services, as the President of the TIMES had been invited to become a Director thereof. I described them as a private "Peace Corps" who were primarily financed by AID money and who primarily had been operating in Southeast Asia. I pointed out that some of the IVS men had become quite disenchanted with our policies in Southeast Asia and had become unsympathetic as a result, however, there is nothing really wrong with the organization or its concepts. I suggested that [] recommend that the individual contact AID for a better description of the IVS.
